Community Apps Repository

Central place for Open Source mobile apps on different platforms

- Example: Qt based apps developed for one platform might be useful for another
- Everybody benefits from development efforts for other platforms

Technology

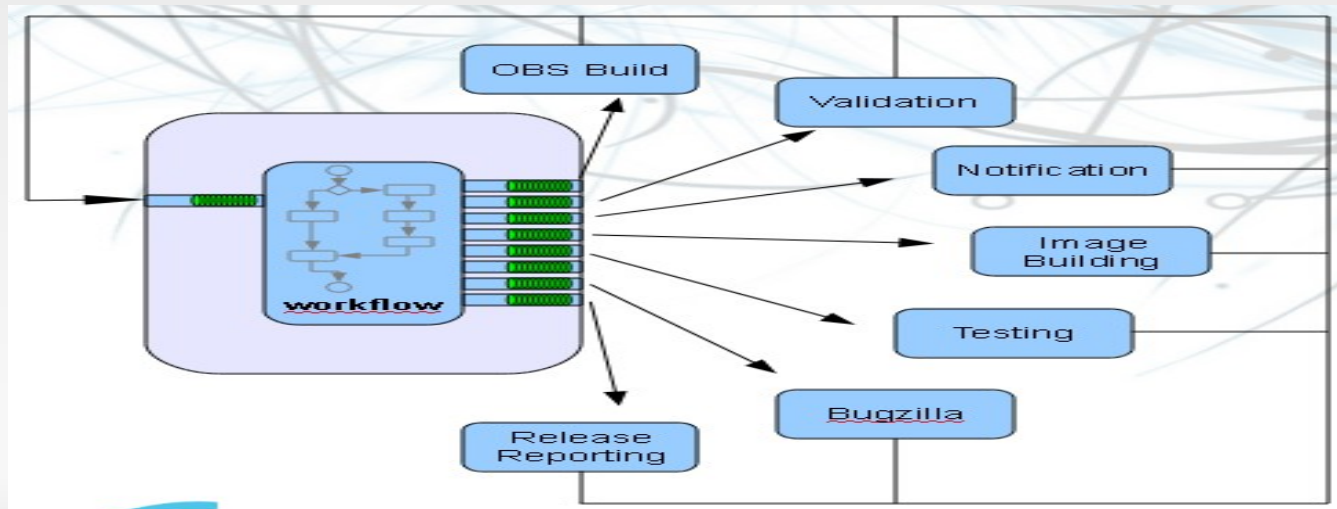

- OBS (Open Build System)
 - Multiple target systems at the same time
 - Submit Request for repository promotion

The screenshot shows the OBS web interface for the 'apps-client' project. The top navigation bar includes the 'obs' logo, a 'Watchlist' button, and a search field. The breadcrumb trail reads: 'MeeGo Community Open Build Service > Projects > home:xfade:NemoApps > apps-client'. The main navigation tabs are 'Overview', 'Sources', 'Repositories', 'Revisions', 'Requests', 'Users', and 'Advanced'. The 'Overview' tab is active, displaying the project name 'apps-client' and a description: 'Apps client for Nemo. This is the client for the Apps repository. It let's you browse the available applications, look at screenshots and install the apps.' Below the description, there are sections for 'Information' (7 files) and 'Actions' (Report Bug, Branch package, Submit package, Edit description, Delete package). On the right side, the 'Build Status' section shows a table of build results for various architectures.

Package Name	Architecture	Status
CE_Apps_CE_MW_Shared...	armv8el	succeeded
CE_Apps_CE_MW_Shared...	armv7el	succeeded
