Subject: v7.8 Rollout Issue

Hi Everyone,

We're currently having issues with the new version of the software. Please make sure you update the release notes with the correct database update instructions and ensure that you also send us a new version of the JAR files.

Version 7.8 does not have the correct schema update file - indeed the updates cause an issue when run without the previous schema translation guide.

API restrictions

Twitter officially unveils more-restrictive API

Macworld (blog) - Sep 5, 2012

Last month, Twitter handed down stricter rules for third-party developers, prohibiting anonymous access to the API, changing limits on how often certain API calls can be issued, and seriously clamping down on how unofficial Twitter clients can function.

Twitter issues controversial API, gives developers six months to comply

Fiercemobilecontent - Sep 6, 2012

Twitter officially released the latest version of its API, instituting strict new guidelines limiting how third-party clients leverage the microblogging platform and giving developers six months to comply with the changes. Twitter API version 1.1, first announced last ...

Twitter API version 1.1: RSS support dropped, third-party clients discouraged

Siliconrepublic.com - Sep 6, 2012

Version 1.1 of Twitter's API has been released, with improved rate limits, authentication required on all endpoints, restrictions for third-party clients and updates to its Developer Rules of the Road and Developer Display Requirements. Many of these changes ...

I'm a sociopath; there's not much he can do for me. I have a dark side, too. I will not kill my sister. I will not kill my sister. I will not kill my sister. He taught me a code. To survive. Under normal circumstances, I'd take that as a compliment. I'm generally confused most of the time. 5 minutes

buddycloud stats

- 10 active developers
- 61 domains running buddycloud
- 2000-something beta testers
- 3 Google Summer of Code Students

buddycloud is

- federated (like email)
- a framework to build social services
- a media server to share documents
- a “pusher” server to work with mobile clients
- open source
- ecosystem of developers, code, examples and documentation

all this means...

- buddycloud offers you a new way to build services that help you share
- you spend less time in your email Inbox
- private stuff stays private

next steps

- mobile
- friend finder service
- hosted buddycloud (buddycloud on your domain)
