Introduction

The open source label was created at a strategy session held on February 3rd, 1998 in Palo Alto, California.

That same month, the Open Source Initiative (OSI) was founded as a general educational and advocacy organization to raise awareness and adoption for the superiority of an open development process.
Introduction

The Open Source Initiative partnered with the leading open source conferences around the world to celebrate the 20 years of Open Source.
Introduction
What I learned

1. Open Source’s history

8. Values and principles
9. Collaboration is key
10. The power of the community
Open Source’s History
One of the first tasks undertaken by OSI was to draft the Open Source Definition (OSD), derived from the Debian Free Software Guidelines (DFSG):

1. Free Redistribution
2. Source Code
3. Derived Works
4. Integrity of The Author's Source Code
5. No Discrimination Against Persons or Groups
6. No Discrimination Against Fields of Endeavor
7. Distribution of License
8. License Must Not Be Specific to a Product
9. License Must Not Restrict Other Software
10. License Must Be Technology-Neutral
Free Software’s History

Origins
The DFSG was inspired by the Free Software Definition:

1. The freedom to run the program as you wish, for any purpose
2. The freedom to study how the program works, and change it so it does your computing as you wish
3. The freedom to redistribute copies so you can help your neighbor
4. The freedom to distribute copies of your modified versions to others
